

a note from the seller..

When we first found this house, it wasn't just about the layout or the finishes—it was about the life we envisioned here for our children. The biggest draw was its unbeatable location—being just a walk or bike ride away from the schools our kids would attend made every morning easier and every memory more meaningful.

Over the years, we've poured love into this home. We updated the kitchen and bathrooms, replaced the roof in 2022, added new wood laminate flooring, and made small improvements that made a big difference. The openness between the kitchen and living room brought our family together daily, and the spacious primary closet quickly became one of my favorite features.

But more than the features, this home is filled with memories. Our kids spent hours playing in the backyard, riding tricycles down the gentle slope, and enjoying the sandbox and trampoline. We even turned the formal dining room into a playroom—a space full of laughter and creativity during those early years.

The community has been the perfect backdrop for raising a family. We've spent weekends at the neighborhood parks, biking to May Valley splash pad, and enjoying the library, YMCA, and public pool. It's quiet in the front, with a little hustle in the back from passing cars—just enough energy to remind you you're part of a thriving, vibrant neighborhood.

As our kids have grown, we've simply outgrown the space. But this home still has so much to give. We're excited to pass it on and hope it becomes the setting for your family's most cherished memories too.
