

What We're Proud Of!

We're proudest of our covered patio. It took a while because we had to make the patio concrete bigger, including the small deck, headed, headed to the hot tub, television and patio furniture. We also added the electrical drop-down wall and shades for the other three sides of the patio to keep the cold and high winds from blowing through and making it more comfortable for us. We spend most of our time out there, so we made sure it was just what we wanted and then we spent the rest of the time working in the backyard in the flowerbeds.

We're proud of the master bathroom, which is small but changing the tub to a step in shower was a big step in and it made the bathroom look so much better.

We're proud of all the upgrades that we've done for the house like new air conditioner, upgraded our electrical system, stove, microwave water heater.

And of course, most recently we're proud of the new driveway we put in.
