

Welcome to Alsea Bay Court

Dear Future Neighbor,

Welcome, and thank you for visiting our home today! We're moving to be closer to family and activities in Kingwood, but before we go, we wanted to share what we'll miss most about this neighborhood.

Alsea Bay Court is a special little cul-de-sac. On the Fourth of July and New Year's Eve, the whole street comes out for fireworks, conversation, and kids playing together. It's a wonderful place for kids to grow up and for parents to connect.

Several of our neighbors have become close friends. We watch each other's pets, take care of each other's homes when someone is out of town, and always look out for one another.

Barton Ridge, our section, really comes alive on Halloween. Neighbors set up fun activities in their driveways and hang out on their porches, and it's one of the best ways to meet people and build friendships.

Eagle Springs has wonderful pools and excellent schools. Our kids went through elementary and middle school here, and we've loved the teachers.

The HOA keeps the calendar full with Food Truck Fridays, casino nights, and more. The more you get involved, the more friendships you'll build.

Our realtor, Stephanie Smucker, lives in Eagle Springs and is one of the many friends we've made here. She's a wonderful resource for any questions or tips about the neighborhood.

We're truly sad to leave. This move isn't about leaving Eagle Springs; it's about our schedule. With family and most of our activities in Kingwood, we were making that drive constantly, and it was time to buy back some of our time. With one of our kids just starting high school, it felt like the right moment for a clean transition.

We hope the next family loves this home, this street, and this neighborhood as much as we have. Welcome to Eagle Springs!

Warmly,

The Likeness Family
